

AUDITORIUM DISPLAY CASE Job description

The Auditorium display case is a volunteer service activity to locate, collect, and mount interesting displays borrowed from campus resident collections, hobbies, collect-alls or whatever. The volunteer manager(s) of the display case is/are only responsible for the Auditorium Display Case and no other exhibits in the Auditorium. The manager(s) should assume this position for at least one or more years. The displays are usually changed every 2 to 3 months throughout the year.

The manager(s) chosen or volunteer to take over the Auditorium Display Case should have these skills:

1. Ability to be mobile, have transportation, and have physical movement not hampered by limitations.
2. Must be capable of removing/repositioning/cleaning glass display shelving.
3. Capable of standing on a small stool or ladder to hang display items/decor.
4. Some knowledge of social networking among campus residents via all on-campus media sources to locate items that would make interesting displays.
5. Some artistic ability to display items in interesting ways that would created attention.
6. Ability to take a photo and print it for inclusion in the Auditorium Display Case Photo Album.
7. Knowledge of computer skills and computer printing are extremely helpful in setting up the displays.

There is a small budget available to purchase supplies for the displays.